NOBODY BEATS BROWN MACHINE GROUP FOR SERVICE AND SUPPORT

As a machine manufacturer, we understand the need and demand for service and support. Having an extensive and long history in the thermoforming industry we understand the challenges faced by your operators in times of need. Our knowledgeable team of service technicians are here to support you. Your staff can speak to a technical expert 24/7/365 who knows your equipment and understands the importance of getting the machine back into production. Our engineers can log into your system on-line, or travel virtually anywhere in the world for on-site service, maintenance and support.

It doesn't stop there. We built it, so we know how to help you get the most out of your equipment too. Schedule a machine audit and we'll come in and evaluate your system, discuss your goals, make recommendations and provide a quote to take your production to the next level. While we're there, we can also train your operators and help create a preventative maintenance program to keep you running with confidence.

Take advantage of our service and support to help you get the most out of your investment.
